MEDICAL CANNABIS
PROGRAM

What is a safety compliance facility?

A safety compliance facility license authorizes its holder to test samples of medical cannabis received from licensed cannabis businesses to ensure compliance with the testing requirements contained in 915 KAR 1:110. Safety compliance facilities verify that the medical cannabis products intended for sale in Kentucky are safe for use.

Testing requirements

Samples from each harvest and production batch must be tested by safety compliance facilities to ensure the quality of medical cannabis in each stage of the process. Testing is performed to identify the following:

- | | | |
|---|--|---|
|  Psychoactive Compounds <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ▶ Tetrahydrocannabinol (THC) and other cannabinoid concentrations ▶ Terpene types and concentrations |  Production residuals <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ▶ Residual pesticides ▶ Processing chemicals ▶ Residual solvents ▶ Heavy metals ▶ Vitamin E acetate |  Impurities and contaminants <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ▶ Microbial impurities ▶ Mycotoxins ▶ Water activity ▶ Yeast ▶ Mold |
